

Values Mean Victory

א"ר

Rabbi Zev-Hayyim Feyer

Our thought for today is
VALUES MEAN VICTORY

Our values are the sails which power our ship of life.
Where our attention is, there is where our values lie.

VALUES MEAN VICTORY

If we pay attention to fear, we put value into fear.
If we pay attention to joy, we put value into joy.

VALUES MEAN VICTORY

Superficiality is a value, but it yields a scanty return in satisfaction and only for a short time. Overlooking ethical values is a psychological device to avoid accepting responsibility and a fearful alienation from our role in enriching life.

VALUES MEAN VICTORY

To have values of depth – love and honor – gives meaning and purpose to life. We have values when we define our responsibility and take a stand for love.

VALUES MEAN VICTORY

We honor life with true values. In return, life honors us and we are spiritually and emotionally whole.

VALUES MEAN VICTORY

Reason is the triumph of the intellect; faith is the triumph of the heart.

VALUES MEAN VICTORY

And now, let us enter the silence, taking this thought with us and resting in it
